

6 Cards You Want to Include in Your Wedding Suite

1. RSVP

An RSVP is a must have! Whether you include an RSVP with an envelope, a postcard, or a card with a link to your website for online RSVPs, it's a card you don't want to forget. There are endless wording options & we can help to make it feel perfect for your wedding! Getting song requests can be a fun way to ensure your dance floor is never empty.

2. WEEKEND EVENTS

Is everyone invited to a few weekend events? Then one card with all of your events is a great way to go. Often brides use it as a quick summary of places for guest to meet up. Ex: Rehearsal Dinner, Ceremony, Sunday Brunch. Even if all your guests are not invited having a "keep it all together card for your closest family and friends can ensure the Best Man doesn't miss the rehearsal, although there is no guarantee there.

3. MAP

If you're having a destination or special location wedding, a map is a great addition to your suite. It can be a great keepsake for you and your guests, and a fun way to let everyone know where the weekend's events will be held.

4. REHEARSAL DINNER

Want your rehearsal dinner invitation to coordinate with your wedding suite, and perhaps even mail it in the same envelope to the invited guests? We can design your rehearsal dinner invites to coordinate or stand on their own.

5. SUNDAY BRUNCH

Inviting all or only a few of your guests to a morning-after brunch? Include a separate card with RSVP info if needed to let everyone know where to grab their morning-after meal. These can also be combined on a weekend events card to save on the layers.

6. OTHER EVENTS

Do you have other events going on related to your big day? If you are inviting several of your guests adding an invitation to that event is a great way to ensure they have all the details. Ex: golf rounds, post-rehearsal dinner drinks, or bridal luncheon. An additional card with website info is also a great final piece to direct your guests online to find detailed information!
